DEDICATION

The Class of 1957 is proud to dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Doris MacMillan Lamson, who for twenty-six years managed the commercial department and was school treasurer until her resignation in December, 1956. Mrs. Lamson not only executed these duties effeciently but also gave much of her time in helping various school groups with their finances, fund drives, and printing needs. Every class has depended on her assistance, and she has been responsible for the successful production of our school paper. With this dedication we wish to show our appreciation and say, "Thank you, Mrs. Lamson. Monson High School shall miss you."

CLASS HISTORY

On a sunny September day in 1945 two small classes started first grade--one with Mrs. Parker at South Main Street School and the other with Miss Lowe at Mechanic Street School. For several days we 'enjoyed" ourselves with pegs, but eventually we learned to control that dangerous weapon--the pencil--using it in our workbooks and probably on our desks. Our prize pupils were Pat Kelley and Barbara Morse, who never whispered or annoyed the teacher as most of us did. Remember the day Gloria Letendre, Barbara Farquhar, and Dorothy Kozec had to sit on the stairs for their naughty behavior? Neil Beaulieu was too shy to stay in school for the first three days. How things have changed!

In second grade, South Main Street pupils worked hard on arithmetic and on skipping exercises up and down the aisles, while in Mechanic Street there were many spelling words to learn for Miss Phelps. We were greatly upset the day Miss Murphy tripped and fell into a front seat; those wrought iron desk sets created quite a sensation. Pat (Patsy) Anderson, Bob Johnson, Roberta Gorley, and Maryann Nichols joined our classes this year. Marcia Milde was so angry when two of the boys kissed her that she complained to the teacher!

Staying after school was a coveted privilege in Miss Makepeace's class; scrubbing blackboards and clapping erasers were exciting tasks! Our new pupils were Dale Gregory, Gail Roberts, and Earl Swanson. They must have found our school most entertaining when Mr. Richards played his "Haunted House" on the piano. He was also responsible for our "tonette" lessons. For music Miss Crowley's class changed rooms--an exciting adventure--and at South Main we sang in the auditorium, until the fifth grade moved in. Inseparable pals were Carolyn Murphy and Cynthia Ball. Remember the playground "gangs" and the war between Leona Proulx and Lillian Beaulieu, when Leona kicked sand at Lillian.

Miss Rietzel had a gay time with the "South" in fourth grade with Pat Kelley and Billy Martell keeping us in hysterics. We did a lot of singing with Gail Roberts, Nancy Hale, and Barbara Morse harmonizing popular songs. At Mechanic Street Mrs. Sherman taught. Once after she returned to the room from an errand, half the class found themselves sitting on papers on the floor--learning that children should be seen and not heard! Our new additions were Nancy Dion, Joyce Noble, and Leo Demorad. Joan Zisk was certainly friendly with Leo, who was a good-looking blonde. Marie Monaghan was a very naughty girl when she hit the innocent second graders over the head with a lunchbox!

In fifth grade we were quite grown-up, even going steady! Jeanne Hockenberry, Susan Hooper, and Gloria Brown became new members. Remember Gloria and Neil's "true love" that lasted almost two years? In Miss Daley's room Bob Johnson and Carl Fischer were adored by all the girls as they had been for the past two years! Everyday from recess to noon the "upstairs" fifth grade (for we were all at South Main Street School this year) played indoor basketball with the waste-basket. Plaster fell downstairs. We suffered under tons of arithmetic homework. We were all sorry to say goodbye to Wendy Clark when she moved to Wilbraham. Downstairs we ended the year with Mr. Peter Lewis substituting when Miss Quinlan, who had taught us so much and had helped us with our George Washington plays, our Valentine bags, and our scientific experiments, was injured in an automobile accident. Mr. Lewis overcame a little difficulty with Peter Katawicz after a brief private session in the adjoining room.

At State Street School, having two teachers and changing classes was a broadening experience--and quite a novelty. Science, with all those exhibits, was intriguing. We also enjoyed notebook making and spelling bees. With one class against the other, it was a fight down to the last word. Cynthia Ball won the final spelling bee, and Bette Young received a prize for her notebook cover. Soccer baseball was the sport of the year, and the girls were always begging the captains--Bob Johnson, Carl Fischer, and George Gauthier--to let them pitch. David Lelgeman teased all the girls and kept them giggling, and Dicky Delphia certainly gave Mrs. Lovell a difficult time. Gloria Letendre missed a lot of school when she had appendicitis, but she still managed to have the best handwriting in the class. This years music lessons in the hall with Mr. Davies were very popular--but disturbing to those with eardrums.

Junior high school was fun, but we had to work harder. We enjoyed social studies with Mr. Grieve, but spelling and science with Miss Hynes rather disturbed us. We especially liked art lessons with Miss Larson--those lovely strawberry baskets, railroad tracks, and odd designs. For our magazine parties a talent show was produced by each class one year, and the next time we had dancing and movies instead. In eighth grade we took a trip to Sturbridge Village with Miss Hynes and several mothers. Another "event" was the gym exhibition put on by Mr. St. Peter's classes; everyone (?) loved acrobatics. Sewing, cooking, and manual training were also popular in junior high. In seventh grade Barbara Morse left for Florida, but the next year Bernie Kvarnstrom and Buster and Ruth Watson increased our number. Bob Johnson and Cynthia Ball won the eighth grade Legion awards.

High school began with our initiation, a brief evening ordeal; the boys looked so sweet in their mother's nightgowns and the girls, so glamorous in their chopped-off dungarees and garcurls. Remember how Mr. Lewis danced with Miss Sutcliffe for the first dance? Our officers were Bob Johnson, Neil Beaulieu, Bette Young and Nancy Young.

At Christmas time instead of exchanging gifts, we decided to send our money to the Foster Parents' Plan. The next month we adopted Chu Tong Kwon, our Korean "orphan." We supported him until the end of our junior year when the Student Council assumed the responsibility. Each year we would have fund drives and would send presents to "our child." This has been a pet project of our class, and we are quite proud to have started the program.

Our one-act play was "A Night in the Country," which was funny if not so professionally produced. The theme of our Senior Reception was "In the Pink" with those beautiful pink hand-made programs. Before the dance we practiced our grand march, led by Bob Johnson and Carolyn Murphy, and how to gracefully conquer the receiving line. The year ended with our picnic at Babb's Beach--Ernest Chaples riding home on Miss Sutcliffe's lap.

The major accomplishment of our sophomore year was the selection of our class ring. How delighted we were when the rings finally arrived! Most of us still feel that our rings are unusually pretty. The Sophomore Hop, in red and yellow, was a success. Our play "Out of the Night" was supposedly a very sober drama. Neil Beaulieu and Barbara Farquhar looked so distinguished with gray hair, and didn't Ronnie Aliengena seem apprehensive when Bob Johnson carried (?) him through that shaking doorway? In June we went to Ocean Beach to swim in the heated pool after the first timid steps into the "roaring surf" of the Sound. Many were pretty dizzy after joy rides; miniature golf was popular, too. This spring we acquired the first of our crop of rod-burners.

Our junior year was a trying one for Mr. Martin. We started in the bookkeeping room with some of us nearly sitting in the doorway. In the midst of Junior Prom preparations, we returned to the traditional junior room downstairs. The Prom, "Winter Wonderland" with our stuffed snowman the center of attention.

This spring Student Council adopted Chu Tong Kwon, but we sent him small gifts, and money for his famous bathing suit. Settled in our new room, a water pistol craze swept the class. Then began the hilarious rehearsals of our play, "The Ugly Duckling," which unfortunately for our predictions, did not win the "Oscar." For those taking French II there was the adventure of the trip to Canada with Mr. and Mrs. Harrington. The eight who went greatly enjoyed the sights. In June we held our picnic at Ocean Beach; Nancy Hale barely recuperated from it! This year our new pupil was Carol Bloom. Neil Beaulieu and Ernest Chaples went to Boys' State and Cynthia Ball went to Girls' State.

Our senior year was the busiest. The Freshman Initiation was planned for group participation for the large class of 1960. In December, our three-act play, "Night of January 16th," was directed by Mr. Suher. Almost every senior helped to make it outstanding. We all will remember the party Mr. Suher gave for the cast of "Night of January 16th." At Christmas we decorated for the "Candlelight Ball." Despite the time spent on running dances and other activities, we still managed to bother Mr. Harrington, at least Nancy Dion, Barbara Farquhar, Gloria Letendre, and Carolyn Murphy did. The latest addition to our class was Ed Renaud. Bob Johnson was elected to represent the school on Good Government Day. While there he was elected to the post of Lieutenant Governor.

The purpose of our labor, our trip to Washington, was worth all the effort. We hope our chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Harrington, Mr. Suher, and Miss Meninno, found it as thrilling as we did. Many thanks go to them.

At Graduation we leave to make our own individual history, but glad are we to have shared so many exciting, happy, silly, and serious hours together.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1957, being of sound and disposing mind, do make this our last will and testament.

Patricia Anderson ..... Pat wills her giggle to Gary Lyons.
Cynthia Ball ..... Sin wills her A's for equal distribution among the school's athletes to ease their scholastic worries.
Neil Beaulieu ..... Neil is leaving his voice to the Glee Club. He always wanted to join--not just to sing either.
Lillian Beaulieu ..... Lil donates her dimples to Glenn Nordin.
Carol Bloom ..... Bloomie wills her phonograph to the French Club.
Ernest Chaples ..... Ern leaves his arguments, concerning history, to Naomi Ball.
Melvin Defoe ..... Mel wants to give his dancing talents to John Skalbite.
Nancy Dion ..... Nan wills her fighting spirit to the basketball teams.
Barbara Farquhar ..... Barb wills her lost sleep to next year's seniors in hopes that they can make it up for her.
Nancy Hale ..... Red leaves her moods to be cured by Lauretta Arventos's nerve pills.
Jeanne Hockenberry .. Hock wills her jolly disposition to Rit Sangermano.
Charles Hulse ..... Charlie is giving his enjoyment of square dancing to Jazz-bo.
Robert Johnson ..... Bob wills his cigar to Heather Meacham.
Patricia Kelley ..... Pat wills her waist measurement to Joe Daly.
Dorothy Kozec..... Jez is entrusting her brother Teddy with her brain.
Bernhard Kvoarnstrom .. Bernie has refused to will his affection for Miss Meninno to anyone.
David Lelgeman .....Dave is giving his love of girls to Jimmy Hale.
Gloria Letendre ..... Sis wills her temper tantrums to Carol Granger.
William Mega ..... Bill wills his blushes to Mrs. Harrington.
Marcia Milde ..... Marsh leaves her flirtatious ways to Rose Ortona.
Marie Monaghan .....Marie plans to present her treasurer's book to Mrs. Lamson as a momento--if the totals ever balance.
Joyce Noble ..... Jo wills her quietness to Barbara Wright.
William Picking ..... Bill wills his four-year job as stage manager to Harry Bahlin.
Edward Renaud ..... Ed donates his enthusiasm and liveliness to the cheerleaders.
Gail Roberts ..... Gail leaves all of her truck drivers to her sister Karen and Nancy Robichaud.
Thomas Schetzel ..... Tommy wills his placid disposition to Dave Hyatt.
Ruth Watson ..... Zippy leaves her Crystal Park crown to Lucille Benoit.
Joan Zisk ..... Joanie has just remembered to will her forgetfulness to any junior who wants to give Mr. Holley a hard time.

CLASS PROPHECY

Many Seniors are wondering what will happen to each in the years ahead. Not to predict but merely to observe the results of the next twenty years of living is the purpose of this prophecy. The particular personality of each Senior makes this revelation of his future a positive declaration one that he cannot change. Here is the state of affairs of our Class in 1977.

Patricia Anderson ..... In her spare time Pat trains laughing hyenas and chuckling chickens.

Cynthia Ball ..... Sin is matron in a Home for Korean War Orphans.

Neil Beaulieu ..... Neil is struggling through a "Typewriting Made Easy" course so that he can publish his "Co-op Weekly."

Lillian Beaulieu ..... At Fischer's Inn, Lil is hostess and co-owner.

Carol Bloom ..... Bloomie is President of the Lonely Hearts Club since she couldn't make up her mind.

Ernest Chaples ..... Ern, steadily rising in the political world, still works at the A&P on Friday nights.

Melvin Defoe ..... Mel makes sure that the laundry trucks get super service at Squire's Garage.

Nancy Dion ..... Last month Nan returned from a trip to Africa to observe current hair styles for her sister's Beauty Shop.

Barbara Farquhar..... Barb is supervisor of the nurses at Monson State Hospital.

Nancy Hale ..... Red has two flame-haired sons starring on the high school basketball team.

Jeanne Hockenberry... Hock has replaced Marjorie Main in her Ma Kettle roles in Hollywood.

Robert Johnson ..... Bob now drives a 1977 Cadillac after the collapse of his twentieth Mercury.

Patricia Kelly..... Pat is a famous Conover model and as a sideline is a beauty consultant for Max Factor.

Dorothy Kozec ..... Jez has her eye on Husband No. 4

Bernhard Kvarnstrom .. We often watch Bernie on TV, advertising his special hair tonic and anti-blush lotion for men.

David Lelgeman ..... As an experienced judge, Dave interviews all contestants for the title of Miss America.

Gloria Letendre ..... Sis decided to become an old maid; she baby-sits for Pat Anderson as a pastime.

Marica Milde ..... At last Marsh is happily married. She's chasing little boys now, instead of big ones.

Marie Monaghan ..... Acting as choir director, Marie has increased the choir to include all Monson bachelors.

Carolyn Murphy ..... Murphy is the first woman president of the Irish Free State.

Maryann Nichols .... M. A. N. has finally received the medal for the Safest Driver of the Year.

Joyce Noble ..... Jo and her husband have been elected to head the National Mr. and Mrs. Club this year.

William Picking ..... Bill is chief veterinarian of Hampden County. His formula for a new power-packed horse liniment has brough him millions.

Edward Renaud ..... Ed owns all the companies that manufacture "Clothes for Petit Men."

Gail Roberts ..... Gail chose to remain in the High School, as Mrs. Toomey's assistant; she handles all the finances.

Carole Rounds ..... After all these years, Carole has been seen again with Dave Lelgeman-night-clubbing in Hollywood.

Thomas Schetzel ..... Tommy did so much work in school that he's just loafing now.

Ruth Watson ..... Last week Zippy was voted "Prettiest Housewife" in the U. S.

Joan Zisk ..... Joanie has completed writing a new volume of the Bobbsey Twins for her fourth grade pupils.

THANK YOU MR. SUHER. . . .

Although it is usually the teacher who recommends the student, in this instance we are going to reverse the procedure.

We, the class of 1957, recommend highly Mr. Maurice Suher to the under-graduates of Monson High School. Although this is Mr. Suher's first year in Monson he has already become an old friend.

Our class had many projects during the year, and without Mr. Suher's unfailing help, few of them would have reached success. We appreciate all that he has given us.

We hope that Mr. Suher's "stay" in Monson will be a long, pleasant one so that other students will also come to know and respect him as much as we do.
